

Syrathon 2010 Launched on Tipperary Hill.

Bright sunshine, high snow banks, chilly but comfortable temperatures, and a man (I think) in a head-to-toe green body suit, greeted a record field of runners for the 5th annual Shamrock Run. More than 2,350 crossed the finish line, after following a course that looped Burnet Park and traveled through the historic Tipp Hill neighborhood. Mayor Stephanie Miner and Congressman Dan Maffei were on hand to offer words of encouragement, and a dozen bands served up extra motivation along the way. Congratulations to all participants...you're now 4 miles closer to your Syrathon goal. And Coleridge Ave is now in the rear-view mirror!
