Miner: Rating Demonstrates Our Continued Commitment to Being an Environmentally Conscious Community Results in Economic Investments

SYRACUSE, N.Y. – Mayor Stephanie A. Miner announced today that GoodCall.com has rated Syracuse as one of the top 25 cities for green careers in the United States. Citing the City’s affordable cost of living, access to green jobs, and community amenities, Syracuse was ranked 23 out of 192 rated cities.

“This rating demonstrates our continued commitment to being an environmentally conscious community has resulted in sustainable economic investments,” said Syracuse Mayor Stephanie A. Miner. “I am glad to be recognized by GoodCall.com for the work we have done to improve our community.”

The Mayor’s administration has put a focus on sustainability since Mayor Miner came into office in 2010. The Mayor formed the first of its kind Bureau of Planning and Sustainability to incorporate environmental stewardship into city planning decisions. Mayor Miner also worked to expand investments in green infrastructure programs.

GoodCall.com is a personal finance website that uses data to help consumers make better informed decisions. They regularly rate different aspects of communities and offer financial tools to consumers.
